Dear Thomas Fairchild Families,

Re: Ramadan greetings and Eid celebrations

As we move through this holy month, I would like to extend my very best wishes to all our Muslim families. I hope that this month of Ramadan is proving to be a peaceful and reflective time for you and your loved ones.

Eid Celebrations at School

Historically, we look forward to hosting our annual Eid party around this time of year. However, due to the shorter spring term and the scheduling of Parents' Evening during the final week, we are unfortunately unable to host our usual large-scale community celebration this month.

While we won't be holding the traditional after-school party just yet, we still want to ensure the occasion is marked with joy for our children. On Monday 23rd March, we will be holding Eid-related activities in school for the children to enjoy during the school day.

Looking ahead to May

Rather than an event now, we have decided to postpone our Eid community celebration until May to coincide with Eid al-Adha.

We believe this will allow us to host the high-quality event our families deserve, with more time for everyone to participate. We will be in touch closer to the date to ask for your help and support in planning this event to make it truly special.

Thank you for your continued support and understanding.

Warm regards,

Matt Trahair
